

Contents

Foreword	vii
by H. E. Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo-Addo, President of the Republic of Ghana
Foreword to the first edition	ix
by Jean Louis Ekra, former president of African Export–Import Bank
About the author	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
Trade and development: evolving historical context and implications	1
Purpose and outline of this book	8
Chapter 2: Trade finance flows to developing countries	11
The need for trade finance – a theoretical context	11
Trade finance flows to developing countries – a brief historical review of the African case	17
The historical review	22
Trade financing gap and opportunities for structured trade finance	36
The future of trade and trade finance in Africa	39
Chapter 3: Structured trade finance – conceptual foundation, origins, and definitions	61
Conceptual foundation	61
The origins of structured trade finance	66
Definitional issues	69

Chapter 4: Essential steps in structured trade finance	73
Collateralization of credit	73
Structured trade finance: essential steps and building blocks	75
Chapter 5: Structured trade finance in action – typical commodity-type deal structures	89
Traditional structures	89
Chapter 6: Deviations from typical commodity-type trade finance deal structures	115
Situations where an exporter's performance risk is weak	115
Warehouse receipt financing	116
Financing with performance guarantees	128
Financing on credit of buyer (full recourse pre-payment finance structures)	133
Financing imports into sub-investment grade economies	153
Special considerations in structuring import financing into sub-investment grade markets	158
Emerging import financing deal structures	162
Chapter 7: Extension to non-physical commodities	195
Pre-financing commoditized revenue flows	195
Migrant remittances financing	198
Trade payment flows financing	207
Chapter 8: Introduction to reserve-based lending and supply chain finance	221
Reserve-based lending	222
Supply chain finance	239
Chapter 9: Pricing structured trade finance transactions	255
Determining the lending rate/loan price	255
Considerations in establishing a pricing model	256
Analysis of loan pricing models	257
Some considerations in applying pricing models	270
Basel III: impact on structured trade finance and loan pricing	271

Chapter 10: Operational risk issues in structured trade finance	279
Definition	279
Susceptibility of structured trade finance to operational risks	279
Importance of operational risk considerations in structured trade finance	279
Sources of operational risk in structured trade finance transactions	284
Managing operational risks in structured trade finance	294
Chapter 11: Living the structure – lessons from real-life experience	299
The good	299
A revolving export receivables-backed dual tranche financing facility for a cocoa processing entity	327
The difficult and challenging	350
Conclusion	402
Chapter 12: A new technology for implementing structured trade finance	405
Technology and the future	405
Digitization of structured trade finance	406
Conclusion	417
Chapter 13: Final thoughts and concluding remarks	419
About Globe Law and Business	421