

Contents

Chapter 1: The changing structure of the modern law firm

By Ken Crutchfield, founder and CEO, Spring Forward Consulting

Chapter 2: The legal engineer: productising legal work in the AI-enabled firm

By Ali Chaudhry, senior legal engineer, Simmons & Simmons

Chapter 3: Legal data scientists and analytics leaders: the rise of legal intelligence

By Matthew Dunne, AI solutions lead, K&L Gates

Chapter 4: Knowledge management, prompt engineering, and the client-facing future of legal knowledge

By Colin Levy, general counsel, Malbek

Chapter 5: The AI leader: chief innovation officers, heads of AI, and the strategy of legal technology

By Isabel Parker, chief innovation officer, and Rebecca Pasternak, manager: practice case innovation, White & Case LLP

Chapter 6: AI governance professionals: managing risk in the AI-enabled law firm

By Harry Borovick, general counsel, Luminance, and Amy Merrick, senior legal counsel, Google DeepMind

Chapter 7: Building multidisciplinary teams

By Dr Catriona Wolfenden, director of product and innovation, Weightmans LLP

Chapter 8: Legal systems and decision architecture: how new roles are redesigning legal work

By Olga Mack, CEO, TermScout

Chapter 9: From trainee to hybrid professional: entry-level roles in the AI-enabled law firm

By Dr Valérie M. Saintot, adjunct professor, SKEMA Business School