

Contents

Executive summary	ix
About the authors	xvii
Chapter 1: Knowledge management strategies and frameworks for the post-COVID world By Nick Milton, director and co-founder, Knoco Ltd
Introduction	1
The four main scenarios	1
KM strategies for a new world	4
How KM operated during lockdown and remote working	5
A KM framework for a hybrid organization	8
Conclusions	9
Chapter 2: Adapting legal knowledge management to the hybrid workplace By Chris Boyd, chief operating officer, and Amy Halverson, director of knowledge management, research and information services, Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati
Introduction	11
The new legal workplace will be a hybrid one	11
KM resources and practices will be key to making the hybrid workplace succeed	14
Preparing KM for a hybrid future by cultivating connections	16
Leveraging fully remote learnings to optimize KM for a hybrid world	17

Chapter 3: Social KM in a time of COVID... and beyond
By Ian Rodwell, head of client knowledge and learning, Linklaters LLP
The role of social KM	19
The impact of COVID-19 on social KM	21
“Rewilding” social KM in a COVID-emergent world	23
Concluding thoughts	25
Chapter 4: Knowledge management 2.0 – after the perfect storm, sailing with AI to new discoveries
By Joe Cohen, UKIME head of innovation, and Andrea Miskolczi, Europe director of innovation, Dentons
A perfect storm?	27
Keeping the good	28
Embracing the new	29
Beyond the old	31
Chapter 5: Data-driven knowledge-based management
By Jonna Vainikainen, business process manager, Castrén & Snellman Attorneys Ltd
The evolving role of knowledge management	33
Data quality – good enough and fit for purpose	34
Ensuring good-quality data – metrics and evaluation	36
The rising era of data-driven technologies and automatization	37
Legal industry trends call for good-quality data	40
Conclusion	42
Chapter 6: Legal technology and knowledge management
By Elisabeth Cappuyns, director of knowledge management, DLA Piper LLP (US)
Context	43
Developing trends	44
Overview of legal technology tools	45
Additional considerations	49
Conclusion	51

Chapter 7: Artificial intelligence and automation

By James Loft, COO, Rainbird Technologies

Artificial intelligence and automation in knowledge-driven industries	53
Unlocking automated decisioning	54
The combination of human potential and artificial intelligence	55
Technology ecosystems that support business growth	57

Chapter 8: Search

By Jon Beaumont, senior manager of knowledge management, Shearman & Sterling LLP

Introduction	61
Previously	61
Location and content	62
Basic approaches	63
Knowledge, data, and systems	65
Users and solutions	67
Results	69
The future	71

Chapter 9: Digital transformation, knowledge management, and cybersecurity in the post-COVID era

By Tiffany M. O’Neil, director of KM and technology innovation, and James G. Perkins, chief operating officer and chief compliance officer, Procopio, Cory, Hargreaves & Savitch LLP

Introduction	73
Digital mastery	74
Knowledge management and technology innovation	78
Cybersecurity	79
Protecting against attacks	80
Conclusion	84

Chapter 10: KM and innovation in law firms and legal departments: twins separated at birth?
By Gordon Vala-Webb, thought leader, speaker/author, and innovation professional
Who is doing what?	87
Long live KM	88
Inter-connections between KM and innovation	88
Similarities	89
Gaps	91
New order of things	92
Chapter 11: Hybrid competitive intelligence – gathering intel remotely
By Mark Gediman, senior research analyst, Alston & Bird, LLP, and Kevin Miles, manager, research services, Norton Rose Fulbright
Transitioning to a hybrid environment – cultural shifts	93
Strengths and opportunities	94
Managing expectations in a hybrid environment	95
Use of virtual tools	98
Ethics and CI are not mutually exclusive	100
Summing up	102
Chapter 12: Retaining KM talent
By Tara Pichardo-Angadi, head of knowledge (EMEA), Norton Rose Fulbright LLP
Introduction	103
Hiring	103
Developing	105
Moving	108
Conclusion	110
Chapter 13: Inclusion and diversity in knowledge: raising awareness and embedding best practice post-COVID
By Orla Bingham, service owner, content development, and Katherine Lang, senior knowledge lawyer and London knowledge lead, Baker McKenzie
Inclusive training	113
Inclusive language	115
Inclusion of all colleagues	117
Allyship	117
Bringing your whole self to work	118

Returning to the workplace	119
What next?	120
Chapter 14: Building and managing a truly global research team post-COVID
By Kathy Skinner, director of research, White & Case LLP
Changes to research teams post-COVID and their impact on global team-building and alignment	123
What are the biggest long-term challenges and what organizational support do you need to address them?	124
What new opportunities can your team realize in this changed environment?	129
Chapter 15: Law firm knowledge management and the metaverse
By Anthony J. Rhem, CEO and principal consultant, AJ Rhem & Associates Inc.
Introduction	131
Metaverse drivers for law firm knowledge management	132
Legal research in the metaverse	133
Law firm collaboration in the metaverse	135
Legal and ethical issues of law firm KM in the metaverse	136
The metaverse and knowledge continuity in law firms	136
Conclusion and key points to consider	137
About Globe Law and Business	139